Overview of Tools

CorelMOSAIC is a visual file manager that lets you view thumbprints of graphics files. The documents you create using CorelMOSAIC are called libraries. You can create libraries by importing files that are displayed as thumbprints in the document. For each thumbprint, you can define notes and keywords to help you locate and identify files. You can import file types such as PCD, GIF, BMP, PCX, and TGA.

Corel Photo CD Lab lets you work with Corel Professional Photos and other Kodak Photo CD images you may have. This tool lets you view images and modify their color, resolution, and size. You can convert images to other graphics formats such as BMP, EPS, PCX, and TIFF.

CD-Audio lets you listen to your audio CDs while working in other applications. This CD player lets you start, pause, resume, and stop play, search for specific portions of music, and repeat tracks. You can also customize the disc and track information that's displayed in the CD-Audio window.

Corel Wallpaper Flipper automatically changes the wallpaper displayed on your screen each time you start Windows. You can include any bitmap image located in your Windows directory, including wallpaper you create using Corel Photo CD Lab.

Getting Started

1. Double click the Photo CD Lab icon.
2. Select "open" from the "file" menu.
3. Choose the drive letter that represents your CD-ROM drive.
4. Choose the image number as designated in the photo reference guide.

TOOLS FOR MACINTOSH USERS

This section describes how to install and use the Corel ArtView Screen Saver for Macintosh and introduces you to CorelMOSAIC.

Using Corel ArtView Screen Saver

Corel ArtView Screen Saver displays Macintosh PICT and Kodak Photo CD PCD images on your screen when the computer is idle. When the screen saver is displaying images, the Macintosh is "asleep"; otherwise, the Macintosh is "awake".

The Corel ArtView Screen Saver works with System 7.0. and later. Using System 7.0 capabilities, you can set the screen saver up to launch automatically on startup.

☛ Corel has tested the screen saver with many system and application configurations. However, with the variety of Macintosh software available and the nature of some applications, problems may occur with some setups.

Installing the Screen Saver

- To install the Corel ArtView Screen Saver:

1. Insert the Corel Professional Photos disc into your CD-ROM drive.
2. Drag the Corel ArtView application from the disc to the hard drive.

☛ Changes made to the screen saver after this booklet was printed? Read the ArtView ReadMe file located in the same folder as the Corel ArtView application.

About CorelMOSAIC

CorelMOSAIC is a visual file manager that lets you view thumbprints of graphics files. Documents you create using CorelMOSAIC are called libraries. You create libraries by importing files that are displayed as thumbprints in the document. For each thumbprint, you can define notes and keywords to help you locate and identify files. You can import file types such as PCD, PICT and TIFF.

Installing CorelMOSAIC

- To install CorelMOSAIC

1. Drag the CorelMOSAIC application from the installation disc to your hard drive.
2. Drag the contents of the CorelMOSAIC Extensions folder to your System folder.
3. Click the OK button to confirm that you want the extensions added to the Extensions folder.
4. Restart your system.

Setting up the Screen Saver

Before using the Corel ArtView Screen Saver, you should define the application preferences, the image display options and the folders that contain images you want displayed.

- The Corel ArtView Screen Saver lets you specify the following preferences:
  - Sleep - indicates how long your computer must be idle before the Macintosh goes to sleep. You can enter a value from 1 to 120 minutes.
  - Sleep corners options - indicates whether you want to use Wake and Sleep corners. When you move the mouse pointer to the sleep corner, the screen saver is automatically activated. When you move the mouse pointer to the wake corner, the Macintosh doesn't go to sleep when the Sleep Time elapses.
- To set preferences for Corel ArtView Screen Saver:
  1. Select Set Preferences form the Options menu.
  2. Specify the preferences options.
     To indicate the sleep and wake corners, drag the icon with the closed eyes to the area of the sample screen that represents the wake corner you want to use. If you're using more than one monitor, portions of the sample screen are located for each monitor.
  3. Click the OK button.
- Corel ArtView Screen Saver lets you specify the following image display options:
  - Minimum Size - indicates the smallest picture pixel size you want displayed. Pictures smaller than the value you enter aren't displayed. The value you enter must be at least 8 pixels, but not greater than the size of the smallest monitor you're using.
  - View Time - specifies the length of time that each image is displayed. You can specify a value between 1 and 7200 seconds (2 hours).
  - Random Order - shuffles images and displays them in a different order each time the screen saver runs. By default, the screen saver displays images in the order they're found on the media.
  - Show File Name - displays the file name of the current image at the top left corner of the image.
  - Magnify Small Files - increases the size of small images when displayed on the screen.
- To specify the image display options and the folders that contain images you want the screen saver to use:
  1. Choose Configure from the Options menu.
  2. Specify the picture options.
  3. Modify the list of folders from which images will be displayed, if necessary.
     To add a folder, click the Add button, select the folder that contains pictures you want to include for screen saver, and click the Select button.
     To delete a folder, select the folder name from the Picture Folders list and click the Remove button.
  4. Click the OK button.
